Change in Calendar for Academic Year

A change is being made in the Calendar for the Academic Year of the College to provide a longer summer vacation and more desirable opening and closing dates. Under the new calendar, College will open annually on the first Wednesday in September (whether this date precedes or follows Labor Day) and will close on the first Saturday in July (except in certain years when a slightly different date applies).

Two to two and a half weeks more of summer vacation are gained by making the following changes: reducing resident term time by five days which are in excess of the required thirty weeks per year; confining Thanksgiving vacation to a one day holiday; shortening Christmas vacation to two weeks instead of the two and a half weeks scheduled at present; and opening Spring Term five days earlier. These changes total about a week less of free time during the academic year.
