Bennington's Version of Football

From January 9-17, critically acclaimed, award-winning authors and faculty of the Bennington Writing Seminars will offer an evening reading series during the MFA program's residency. Mark Wunderlich spoke with Vermont Public Radio about this winter's Writers Reading lineup.

2019 in Photos

Communications has compiled a Flickr set to commemorate Bennington College's work in 2019—featuring the reopening of Commons, the 24 Hour Plays, performances and productions, climate activism, and more. Have a favorite photo? Share it with communications@bennington.edu.

Benefit Plan Limits for 2020

Health Savings Account (HSA) Participants: Employees participating in the College's Consumer-Directed Health Plan (CDHP), which is paired with a Health Savings Account (HSA) should note that the maximum annual contribution amounts allowed to Health Savings Accounts will increase for 2020—please refer to the College's website for detailed information. If you have questions or need guidance on this plan or other benefit programs, please contact benefits@bennington.edu or Angela DeLuca (x4638).

Safety Training

Human Resources will be hosting safety training workshops on Tuesday, January 7. Although participation in select sessions may be mandatory for certain employees, all faculty and staff are encouraged to attend any session of interest. The complete calendar of safety training workshops is available on the website. All sessions will be held in CAPA Symposium, unless otherwise indicated. If you have any questions, please contact Human Resources (x4423).

December Newsletters

Every month, Communications sends newsletters out to alumni and family and friends of the College. Enjoy December's stories and encourage interested community members to sign up for the family and friends newsletter.
