

PLEASE COMMENT WITH YOUR THOUGHTS.

Do you want different things? Do you have design suggestions? Are you excited about something in particular? We are going to talk about this in meetings and/or do a walk-about this Sunday. Thanks!

Here's a question: The grapes on 2 sides of an irregularly shaped asparagus bed are going to make it really hard to weed in that pointy area of the bed, right? So what if we put that straight grapevine wall on the strawberry side of the asparagus patch rather than the blueberry side?

Weeding the asparagi (asparagusses? asparagota?) will perhaps be easier. -- Sylvia

Persimmon + elderberries: YES!! very excited

Human nest - maybe the enclosed trellis where the "secluded garden seat" is can be a human nest instead? something like this:

https://lh3.googleusercontent.com/geKpFkbozruPekH2KombuzPMW-jby5DbEpy1SDehOEYHZD-7DSfA8nlAbmnZomHDVVJgblCmYUKzsYnLMb7qfjA4a99MNqCsUNxrg628_DFNY7_K-R8nWGW3JQ (there's an actual entrance there but you can't see it in the picture) It can also be a really cool project to bring people together so everyone weaves and puts together this little space, branch by branch, like a little bird family :)

The human nest looks very cool but we should be very careful because 3 of our farmers already have major Lyme stuff going on, and dry sticks and leaves and grasses is tick heaven. Maybe a nest of living green? A nest of beans? That's less tick-y. -- Sylvia