

"The land is always stalking people. The land makes people live right. The land looks after us. The land looks after people."

-Annie Peaches of the Apache gathering dark

a performance piece by Clemma Dawson

with Michelle Dorville

Rebekah Pym

Michael Székely

Celia Twomey

"The rain surrounded the cabin... with a whole world of meaning, of secrecy, of rumor. Think of it: all that speech pouring down, selling nothing, judging nobody, drenching the thick mulch of dead leaves, soaking the trees, filling the gullies and crannies of the wood with water, washing out the places where men have stripped the hillside... Nobody started it, nobody is going to stop it. It will talk as long as it wants, the rain. As long as it talks I am going to listen."

-Thomas Merton

thank you

John Luther Adams

Suzanne Jones

David Abram

Tom Farrell

This concert is made possible in part through the generous support of Judith Rescuersberg Hoffberger '84, the Henry and Ruth Blaustein Rescuersberg Foundation, and the L. Miller Fuld of Brantingham College.

As the crickets' soft autumn hum is to us

So are we to the trees

as are they

To the rocks and the hills.

- Gary Snyder

deane carriage barn · december 3 8pm 1996