This project was designed to bring the art of Bennington College to its surrounding community. For me it was a combination of showing advanced work in costume design and part of being a member of the Community Outreach Leadership Team. The project is also part of my dream to use my own art to better the lives of children and to use art education as a development tool. I would like to thank the cast for all of their dedication, and all of the people who gave their support along the way.

You are currently sitting on the floor in Greenwall because I had hoped to return you to those days of sitting on a gymnasium floor. So sit back, relax and let your inner child run free.

This even is brought to you by a grant from Student Endowment for the Arts
