

Unquiet History: Argentina since the "Dirty War"

The Ties That Bind: Social Codes of Terror

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 2008

7:00 PM • TISHMAN LECTURE HALL

In the first segment of this two-part series, Bennington faculty member Marguerite Feitlowitz will address lingering questions about Argentina's "Dirty War." How have children of desaparecidos (disappeared people) confronted longstanding codes of denial and complicity? What about those who whose parents supported, tolerated, or denied the repression? How do these different groups relate to each other?

Nuestros Desaparecidos/ Our Disappeared

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 1, 2008

7:00 PM • TISHMAN LECTURE HALL

In part two of the series, documentary filmmaker Juan Mandelbaum will present his film Nuestros Desaparecidos/ Our Disappeared. In the film, Mandelbaum, an Argentine filmmaker living in the United States, returns to Argentina to find out what happened to friends who disappeared during the military dictatorship. Mandelbaum's independent productions, including Ringl & Pit and Caetano in Bahia, have won numerous awards and are in worldwide distribution.
