September 15, 1954.

Dear Jean Brockway:

Mr. Frost will be ready at the Homer Noble Farm by three in the afternoon of September 27. Is it all right to have him back at the farm next morning?
He does best without drinks and with a solitary supper of eggs, tea, and milk. After his talk, and fortified by a cold snack he can go on to an evening in a private home. The audience meeting he likes. Usually he talks about an hour and a quarter. Then after applause he goes on and it would be wise for the chairman to break things up after another twenty minutes or so.

He tires but often is helpless about ending things.

Mr. Frost looks forward with pleasure to his evening with you all.

Sincerely yours
Kathleen Morrison
(Mrs. Theodore Morrison)
