

POETRY READING

JANUARY 7TH, 2000, 8:00PM

COLEMAN BARKS

Coleman Barks' books of poems include Gourd Seed, Laughing at the Damage, New Words, and The Juice. The foremost translator of the poems of Rumi, he has translated fifteen of his books, including The Essential Rumi and The Glance. As an associate faculty member of the Writing Seminars, Mr. Barks will also, give a series of lectures, which the public is invited to attend.

ROBERT BLY

Robert Bly's most recent book of poems is Eating the Honey of Words: New and Selected Poems. Other books of poems include Morning Poems, The Man in the Black Coat Turns, The Light Around the Body, and Silence in the Snowy Fields. His books of nonfiction include Iron John and The Sibling Society. He is poet-in-residence at Bennington College's graduate Writing Seminars.

DONALD HALL

Donald Hall's latest book of poems is Without. His other books of poems include The Old Life, The Museum of Clear Ideas, Old and New Poems, and The One Day. His books of nonfiction include String Too Short to be Saved, Their Ancient Glittering Eyes: Remembering Poets, and Seasons at Eagle Pond Farm. He is poet-in-residence at Bennington's Writing Seminars.

BENNINGTON COLLEGE • USDAN GALLERY

FOR MORE INFORMATION: 802.440.4452 •