

"You Have to Read This"

SEPTEMBER 28, 2016

Marguerite Feitlowitz was interviewed by Andrew Graham-Yooll in Página 12 as an expert on the subject of the language of dictatorship on how she came to focus her work on Argentina's history.

Interviewer Graham-Yooll is an investigative reporter who has covered the dictatorship for numerous publications, notably the pioneering Buenos Aires Herald and The Guardian. With Nobel Laureate Harold Pinter, he founded the Index on Censorship. He has long been a galvanizing force for human rights, and freedom of expression.

The interview is accompanied by another piece, which recounts a conversation between Graham-Yooll and Pinter, who told the interviewer about Feitlowitz's book, A Lexicon of Terror, saying "Andrew, you have to read this. It's important!"