Rick Dodge, Williams 66, is presently collecting material on the draft, which he hopes to publish as an anthology sometime after the scheduled congressional action re the draft in June, and one of the sections of the book will be on the topic "Women and The Draft." He would like very much to have a meeting on this subject, Thursday evening after dinner in Dewey house living room. He has a paper--
Conscription: The War on Women and Children, delivered by Elizabeth Polstes, President, U.S. section, Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, at the annual meeting of the American Orthopsychiatric Association--that he would like to read. Afterward there will be a discussion.
