You Have The Lovers

Words by Leonard Cohen

You have the lovers, they are nameless, their histories only for each other
And you have the room; the bed and the windows
Pretend it's a ritual.
Unfurl the bed, bury the lovers, blacken the windows.
Let them live in that house for a generation or so.
No-one dares disturb them.
Visitors in the corridor tiptoe past the long-closed door.
They listen for sounds, for a song, for a moan.
Nothing is heard not even breathing.
You know they are not dead,
You can feel the presence of their intense love.
