Mr. Lewis Jones, President
Bennington College
Bennington Vt.
Dear Lewis:

I just remembered that I have forgotten to write you the outline of my drawing courses.

I am offering two separate courses in drawing, alternately in each semester. The first is an Anatomical Analysis of the bony structure of the human body. This course is planned to give the students a better understanding of the architectural perfection of its balance and interplay. The technical media best adapted for drawing may be pen and ink, pencil, or tempera. This course is an excellent preparation for students who may want to do scientific work in hospitals, or to assist in defense work that might call for such preparation.

The second course for advanced students is one in Life Drawing. This furnishes an opportunity for the study of space relationship, and rhythm, and greatly assists in all courses in the entire field of art. I hope you will not receive this too late. We will be glad to be back in Bennington with kindest regards from us both, Very sincerely,
Piero Mosello
