

SEPC Minutes

March 1, 2005

There are 5 open positions on SEPC. One in Science/Math, Media, Literature, and two in Social Science. Interested students should attend our meeting on Tuesday, March 8 at 12:00 in Barn 244.

We are also interested in adding an SEPC Representative for the Democracy Project. Interested students should also come to our next meeting.

The library review has been finished. Copies are on reserve in Crossett. Check it out if your interested.

Discipline Updates

Visual Arts: Silo submissions are due March 18. Check the signs posted or ask Jim Bolenbaugh for appropriate drop off locations.

Science and Math: Science Workshop is now Wednesdays at 1:00. The following people will be interviewing for the Cell Biology position that is open for the fall. They will be meeting with students at the following times:

Veronica Godoy Friday, March 11

Lunch with any interested students: meet in the Reading Room at 11:45

Seminar at 1:00 in Dickinson 148

Joshua Rappoport Wednesday, March 16

Lunch with any interested students: meet in the Reading Room at 11:45

Seminar at 1:00 in Dickinson 148

Douglas Dorer Friday, March 18

Lunch with any interested students: meet in the Reading Room at 11:45

Seminar at 1:00 in Dickinson 148

Drama: Drama collective will be meeting at 11:00 in the Upstairs Café on Tuesdays. The Collective is looking for guest artist ideas. The first Improv. Show of the term will be on Friday, March 11.

Literature: There will be a planning focused Literature gathering on Monday at 7:00 in Franklin. Writing Tutors are in the library sun-thurs:7-10 and sun: 2-5. Use these tutors for all your writing needs.

Dance: Keep your eyes out for guest artists this term. We've got a hole boat load of 'em!