Civil rights is more than a matter of black and white. We can send money for Rap Brown; we can express our grief over Rev. King's death at a memorial service; and we can start acting now.

There are people in our town of Bennington who are also being denied their rights. Here is an opportunity for immediate and constructive action. What we can do for the people who live in poverty in the Bennington community does not constitute a revolutionary movement. But it is a beginning. Civil rights are just as important here as they are in New York City, in the South, in Boston.

There is a lot to be done. We need your energy; we need your ideas; we need your help.
