

Bennington College presents the 2004 Adams–Tillim Lecture

Deborah Willis

MacArthur Foundation Fellowship award winner and Professor of Photography and Imaging at New York University

BLACK

Imaging Black Culture

Thursday • May 20

Tishman Lecture Hall • 7:30 PM

Imaging Black Culture offers a look at how African-Americans used the medium of photography to create a new self-image at the turn of the 20th century. This lecture will explore the phenomena of racial uplift in imagery, the body as an art subject, and the work of contemporary black photographers.

FREE and open to the public • For further information, call 802.440.4549 • www.bennington.edu