FROM THE NON-RESIDENT TERM OFFICE

Attention Sophomores and Juniors interested in Science: A special civil service examination for a position called STUDENT AID TRAINEE will be given early in December. This classification is especially designed for undergraduate students who want to work in the physical science fields during summer vacations and college work terms. Most of the positions are in the vicinity of Washington. By passing this exam students would be available for jobs next summer and the Non-Resident Term of 1955. The salary begins at the rate of $2750. a year. Applications are in the Non-Resident Term Office, also a more detailed description of the work. The closing date for filing applications is November 17th.

Students whose jobs are all set for the coming Non-Resident Term are urged to notify the Non-Resident Term office if they have not already done so.

Social Science seniors: Application forms for the U.S. Civil Service Examination for Junior Management Assistant must be mailed so that they are received in Washington not later than November 12th.

Miss Jane Houston, guidance counselor from Berkeley School, will be available in the Non-Resident Term office on Tuesday morning, November 17th, to talk with any students interested in attending that school in the future.
