

Bennington College presents

The 2007 Adams–Tillim Lecture

"Experimental architecture is not for everyone. It is for people whose lives have been transformed by experience."—Lebbeus Woods

LEBBEUS WOODS

Author and faculty member at The Cooper Union, Lebbeus Woods is a pioneering architect, devoted to design theory and experimentation. Abandoning gestures towards practicality and tradition, Woods' work considers the unique social and cultural circumstance of place, which won him the Chrysler Award for Innovation in Design.

Wednesday, April 25, 2007
7:30 pm ■ Tishman Lecture Hall

This event is free and open to the public.
For further information, contact 802-440-4743
or visit www.bennington.edu.