Dear Camille,

If people who disagree, on top of that, don't talk to each other the body politic will soon be in an awful mess.

Duplicity is a matter of character not, as a rule, of another's encouragement or discouragement. Your Iago will go it alone.

There is such a thing as overkill. A person's major energies--wouldn't you say?--should go into work and love.

Will one p.m. be all right on Saturday?

Yours,
