

THE
NEW YORKER
No. 25 WEST 43RD STREET
NEW YORK, 36, N. Y.

APR 9 1965

North Bennington, Vt.
April 8, 1965

OXFORD 5-1414

Dear Harry,

Jessie's statement is eloquent and impressive. If I knew the name of such a college, I would go there to teach.

I enclose a real invitation to go somewhere and teach, to be returned at your convenience. I turned it down, but I am showing it to you to suggest that Bennington may be underestimating the worth of a Distinguished professor.

Shirley and I are just back from Wisconsin, and look forward to seeing you before we head west again at the end of the month.

Yrs,

Stanley